

CASIO to Release BABY-G Watch for Fun Times at the Beach
Featuring Colours and Designs That Evoke a Sparkling Ocean Surface

BGA-250

BASEL, March 21, 2018 — Casio Computer Co., Ltd. announced today the release of the latest addition to the BABY-G line of women’s shock-resistant watches based on the concept of Tough and Cool. The BGA-250 is inspired by a love of the sea and will be available in five models.

The new BGA-250 features numerous design details that evoke the ocean, inspired by a love of the sea. The perimeter around the index marks and the watch face evoke the sparkling surface of the sea with metallic accents on some of the index marks. The marine-inspired design boasts various playful touches including index marks in a bar-and-dot pattern inspired by a ship’s steering wheel, and an hour hand whose shape is inspired by a ship’s anchor. The watch comes with the Neon Illuminator feature, and a special fluorescent coating is incorporated into the watch face—and also printed on the hour and minute hands—giving a vivid glow at night.

The BGA-250 will be available in five models featuring watch body and watch face colours that are each inspired by a different ocean scene including a moonlit ocean, clear ocean waters, and seashells on a beach. The BGA-250 is a BABY-G watch for women who are moved by the sea, with designs that accent beach style.
